Preface

What are Tactics?

A Tactic refers to a sequence of moves that limits the opponent's options and may result in a gain of material or checkmate. The fundamental building blocks of tactics are move sequences in which the opponent is unable to respond to all threats, so the first player realizes an advantage. In this book, we are going to see twenty types of tactical elements and themes.

How to use this book?

We recommend the reader to set up the given positions in a chessboard and solve it, without making the moves. This will improve your visualization and calculation skills. First, we have explained the different tactical elements and themes with examples. In the exercises we have not given the tactics name specifically, to train the player to spot tactics during the game. It is recommended that once the reader begins with this book, he can aim to solve a minimum of 10 – 15 positions every day.

Key to symbols used

- ! a good move
- !! an excellent move
- ? a bad move
- ?? a blunder
- !? an interesting move, a move worth considering
- ?! a dubious move, a move of doubtful value
- + Check
- # Checkmate
- $\pm$  Slightly better for White
- $\pm$  Better for White
- + - Decisive advantage for White
- $\bar{+}$  Slightly better for White
- $\bar{+}$  Better for White
- + Decisive advantage for Black
- = Equal
- White to play
- Black to play

Tactical elements and themes explanation

Double Attack

An attack on two or more pieces with a single move is called a Double attack. When one of the pieces is moved the other piece is captured. Normally a double attack will result in loss of a material, because the opponent may not be able to protect from several threats simultaneously.

Example of double attack:

The solution is 1. Rd7+, White rook attacks king and bishop and after 1... Kf6, simply 2. Rxb7.

In a double attack, sometimes the first one may be a piece attacked and the other one will be an important square. For example

In this position after 1. Qe4 White Queen attacks rook on a8 and threatens Checkmate on h7, so 1... g6 to stop Checkmate and 2. Qxa8.

Discovered Attack & Discovered Check

A Discovered attack is an attack revealed when one piece moves out of the way of another. Discovered attacks can be extremely powerful, as the piece moved can make a threat independently of the piece it reveals.

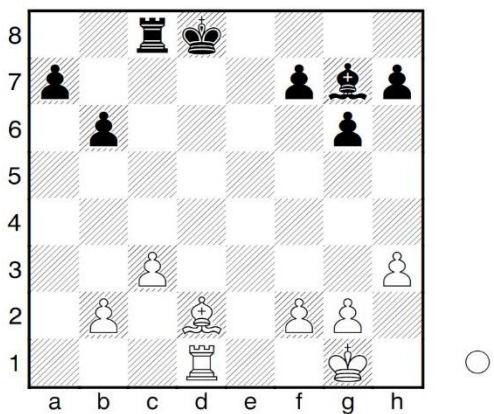

Example of Discovered attack:

The solution is 1. Bf3 and White bishop attack Black rook also gives Discovered attack to the Black bishop, after 1... Rd8 simply 2. Rxe5.

If the Discovered attack results in check, then it is Discovered check. For example:

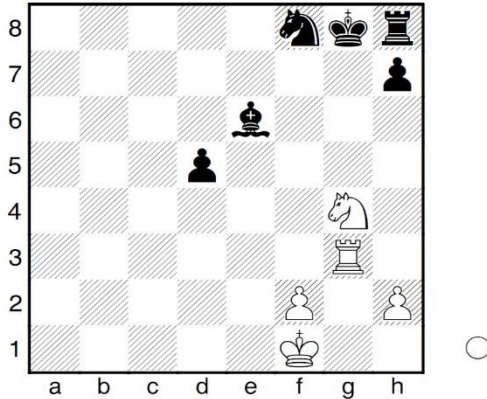

Here, White will give a Discovered check with 1. Bh6+ after 1... Ke7 White can win the bishop 2. Bxg7.

Double Check

If two pieces simultaneously check the king then it is Double check. The double check can be achieved only by a Discovered check. The double check cannot be defended by blocking and capturing. It can be responded only by moving the king. If the king cannot be moved, then it is a checkmate. Hence Double check is a powerful weapon.

Few examples of Double check:

After 1. Nh6# White rook and knight give a check to the Black king and also White knight controls the f7 square, so it is checkmate.

Here 1. Bg6+ it is Double check to the Black king, after 1... Kd8 This is checkmate with 2. Re8#.

Pin

A pin is a situation brought on by an attacking piece in which a defending piece cannot move without exposing a more valuable defending piece on its other side to capture by the attacking piece.

There will be three pieces involved during a Pin.

Pinning piece – The attacker, which is responsible for the pin.

Front piece – The opponent piece, which is pinned and that cannot be moved. This piece is also called a pinned piece.

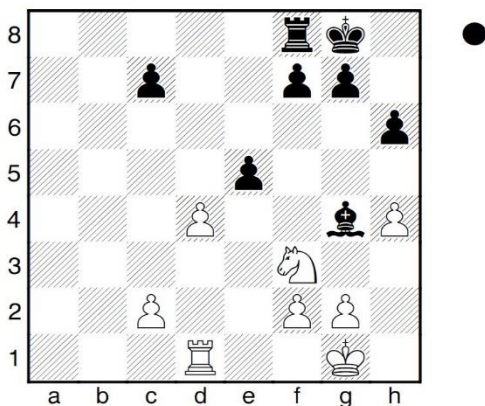

Back piece – One of the opponent's pieces that is behind the pinned piece and of more value than the pinned piece.

There are two types of pin. Relative pin and Absolute pin.

Relative pin:

When a piece other than the king is behind the pinned piece, then it is a Relative pin. Here the pinned piece can be moved but will usually result in loss of material.

Example of Relative pin:

Hereafter 1... e4 moving White's knight will result in loss of rook with 2... Bxd1. But next move Black pawn will capture White's knight.

Absolute pin:

When the king is behind the pinned piece, then it is an Absolute pin. Here the pinned piece cannot be moved.

Example of Absolute pin:

After 1. Ne7+ Black cannot capture White's knight, because of Absolute pin, and also forcing 1... Kh8. Then White can checkmate with 2. Rxf8#.

Skewer

A Skewer is an attack upon two pieces in line and is similar to a pin. The skewer is sometimes described as a Reverse pin. The difference is that in a Skewer, the more valuable piece is in front of the piece of lesser value. So, the opponent is compelled to move the more valuable piece to avoid its capture, thereby exposing the less valuable piece which can then be captured.

Examples of Skewer:

Here 1. Rd8+ forcing 1... Ke7 and White can win the rook with 2. Rxh8.

Here 1. Bb2 forcing Black to move its queen, for example, 1... Qf5 and White can capture Black's rook 2. Bxh8.

Deflection

Deflection is a tactic that forces an opposing piece to leave the square, rank or file it occupies, thus exposing the king or a valuable piece. It is typically used in the context of a combination of attack, where the deflected piece is critical to the defence.

Examples of Deflection:

In this position, the Black king is the only support for the Black queen, and White can deflect Black's king with 1. Rg8+ after 1... Kxg8 White can capture Black's queen 2. Qxe7.

Here, Black's queen defends White's mating threat on g7. But White can deflect Black queen with 1. Ra8, if 1... Qxa8 and White can checkmate with 2. Qxg7#.

Decoy

Decoy is finding a poisoned square that your opponent would never want to go to and doing everything you can to make them go there. You usually are trying to force either a king or queen to a poison squared, especially if you are giving up substantial material to do such.

Examples of Decoy:

Here, 1. Ra8+ forcing the Black king to move to a8 square
1... Kxa8 which leads to checkmate with 2. Qa7#.

Here, 1. Qg8+ forcing the Black king to move to g8 square
1... Kxg8 and White can gain more than a sacrificed queen with 2. Nxe7+ Kf7 3. Nxc8.

Clearance

Clearance is the removal of a piece of a square. So that the square or file or rank or diagonal can be used by another piece for better threat. In some cases, clearing a square for another piece will be mentioned as a square vacation.

Examples of Clearance:

In this position, White clears e5 square for White knight with 1. Rxe5 which helps White to win Black queen 1... gxe5 2. Ne5+ Kf6 3. Nxc6.

Here, White clears h1 square and h file for the White queen with 1. Rh8+ which leads to checkmate after 1... Kxh8 2. Qh1+ Kg8 3. Qh7#.

Interference

Interference occurs when the line between an attacked piece and its defender is interrupted by sacrificially interposing a piece.

Examples of Interference:

In this position Black queen defends White's mating threat on g7, but after 1. Rd7 White interrupts in that defence, and after 1... Bxd7 if (1... Qxd7 then White can win queen with 2. Nxd7) 2. Qxg7#.

Here, Black bishop controlling h8 square. So that White is not able to promote its h pawn. But after 1. d4 White pawn interrupts in Bishop's diagonal and h8=Q is unstoppable.

Windmill or Seesaw attack

A Windmill or Seesaw attack is a tactic in which a combination of discovered checks and regular checks, usually by a rook and a bishop, often forcing the opposing king to move back and forth between two squares, can win massive amounts of material.

For example:

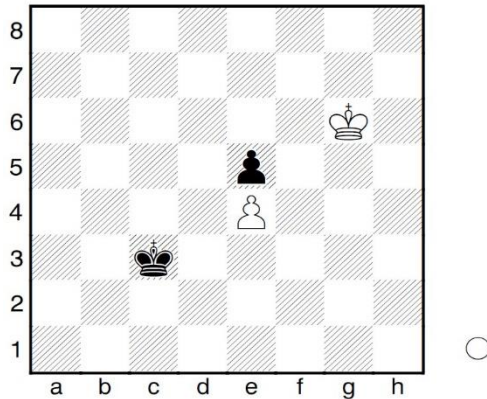

In this position, Black is materially ahead. But after the Windmill attack? 1. R<sub>x</sub>g7+ K<sub>h</sub>8 2. R<sub>x</sub>f7+ K<sub>g</sub>8 3. R<sub>g</sub>7+ K<sub>h</sub>8 4. R<sub>x</sub>b7+ K<sub>g</sub>8 5. R<sub>g</sub>7+ K<sub>h</sub>8 6. R<sub>x</sub>a7+ and White is completely winning.

Zugzwang

Zugzwang is a situation in chess which means, It is your turn to move, and all of your moves are bad. So sometimes having to move can lose the game!

Examples of Zugzwang:

Here 1. Kf6! is the best move for White, then only move for Black to defend his pawn is 1... Kd4 2. Kf5. And Zugzwang helps White to win this position. Black has no way to save his pawn and he has to move the King away from his pawn.

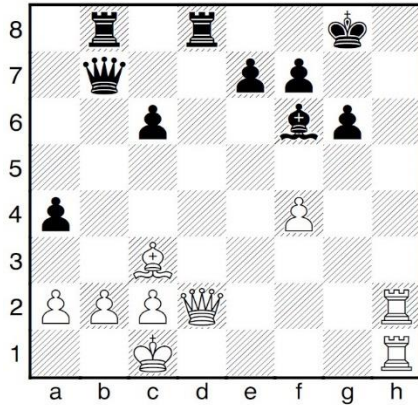

Here White found a Brilliant move to win this game using Zugzwang. 1. Ra1!! Kxa1 2. Kc2 this situation forced Black to play the only move 2... g5 which is the bad one. 3. hxg5 h4 4. g6 h3 5.g7 h2 6. g8Q h1Q 7. Qg7#.

X-ray attack

The x-ray attack is implemented by attacking a piece or square through the body of an opponent piece.

Examples of X-ray attack:

In this position White bishop attacking h8 square indirectly through the body of Black bishop. 1. Rh8+! Bxh8 if (1... Kg7 then comes 2. R1h7#) 2. Rxh8#.

Here White bishop attacks Black pawn on b7 indirectly. So White can win a pawn with 1. Nxb7.

Annihilation of defence

Annihilation of defence is the removal of any pieces that stand in the way of delivering a winning attack.

For example:

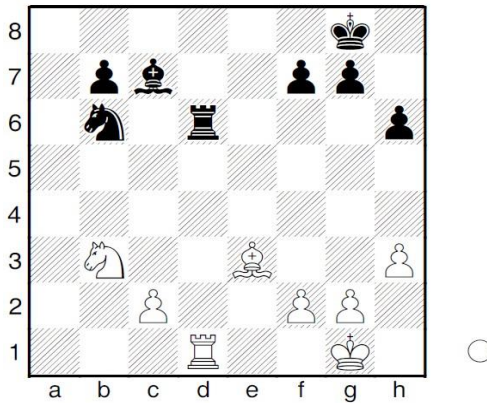

In this position, White's kingside pawns are in the way of Black's attack. So, Black played 1... Nxe3! to get rid of White pawns then 2. hxg3 if (2. Qg4 then Black will win material with 2... Nxe4) 2... Qxe4 2... Qxg3+ 3. Kh1 3... Qg2+!! 4. Bxg2 4... hxg2+ 5. Kg1 5... Rh1#

Overloaded pieces

A piece is Overloaded if it has more than one responsibility, for example defending a piece, defending a square, blocking a check, and blocking a piece.

For example:

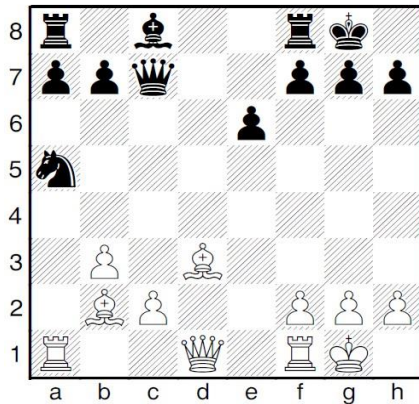

In this position, the Black bishop has two responsibilities. It protects both rook and knight. So White can win material with 1. Rxd6 Bxd6 2. Bxb6

Demolition of Pawn Structure

Demolition of Pawn Structure refers to removing the defenders (pawns) in front of castled king sometimes uncastled king, usually at the cost of sacrifice.

For example:

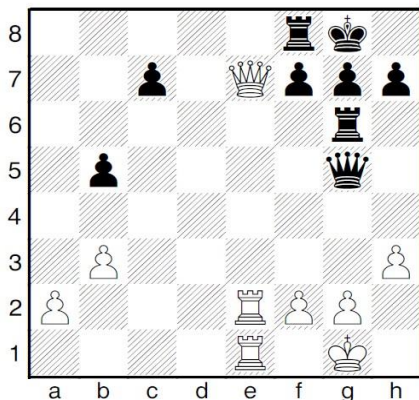

In this position, White found the best way to demolish the Black's pawn kingside pawn structure. 1. Bxh7+! Kxh7 if (1... Kh8 and Qh5 is simply winning) 2. Qh5+ Kg8 3. Bxg7! Kxg7 4. Qg5+ Kh7 5. Ra4 with the idea of Rh4#.

Back-rank Weakness

A back-rank checkmate is a checkmate delivered by a rook or queen along with a back rank in which the mated king is unable to move up the board because the king is blocked by its own pawns on the second rank.

For example:

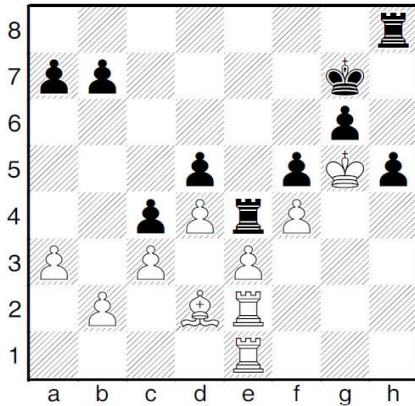

In this position, White used Black's back-rank weakness with the queen sacrifice. 1. Qxf8+ Kxf8
2. Re8#.

Blockade

A blockade is an act of sealing off a square to prevent pieces or pawns from entering. The way this sealing off will be accomplished by physically occupying the square with a piece or pawn that cannot be captured.

For example:

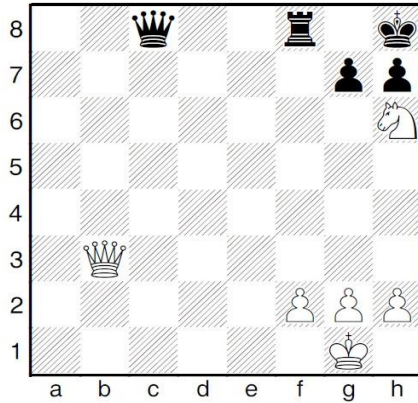

Black is a piece down in this position. But Black was able to win this position using blockade. Black played 1. h4! to seal off the h4 square to stop the White king from escaping with the idea of Rh5# which is unstoppable.

Smothered mate

Smothered mate is a checkmate delivered by a knight in which the mated king is unable to move because he is surrounded by his own pieces.

For example:

Here, White played 1. Qg8+! which is the only way to win this game. Then 1... Rxf8 only move and 2. Nf7# Smothered mate.

Intermediate move

An intermediate move is a chess tactic in which a player, instead of playing the obvious move, first interposes another move posing an immediate threat that the opponent must answer, and only then plays the expected move.

For example:

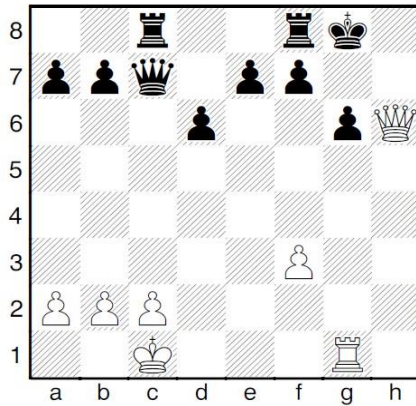

In this position, White captured Black rook on e5 and expecting Black to play 1... dxe5 and White can capture Black queen 2. Rxd7. But Black played an intermediate move 1... Qg4 threatening checkmate on g2. So White has to defend this threat first and Black will capture the White queen.

Combinations to achieve the draw

Achieving a draw is better than losing a game. In some hopeless positions, a player can secure half point with combinations to achieve the draw using Perpetual or Stalemate.

For example:

In this position, Black is materially ahead. But White can secure half point using Perpetual check (If the same position occurs three times in a game then a player may claim a draw).

1. Rxg6+ fxg6 2. Qxg6+ Kh8 3. Qh6+ Kg8 4. Qg6+.

In this position, White can't defend Black's mating attack. And also Black is materially ahead. But White can secure half point with queen sacrifice 1. Qg7+ Bxg7 Stalemate.

Tips to find tactics and calculate long variations

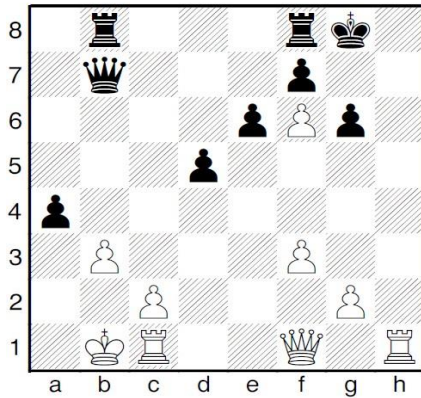

In chess each and every move we have a lot of possible moves. So, it's not easy to calculate variations using quite moves. Forcing moves is the only tool that helps a player to calculate well in Chess.

What are Forcing moves?

- i Check
- ii Capture
- iii Threat

Always first we have to search for Forcing moves in this order – first Check, then capture and threat. If there are no good forcing moves in the position, then the player can go for quite moves. And also Forcing moves helps a player to spot the Tactics available in the position easily.

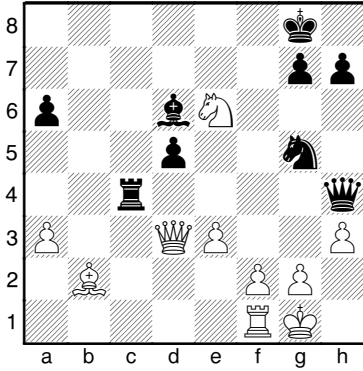

For example:

In this position, White played a forcing move 1. Rh8+ check (forcing move) Kxh8 2. Qh1+ check (forcing move) Kg8 3. Qh6 mating threat on g7 (Forcing move). And this checkmate is unstoppable. In the following exercises, try to calculate the complete answer without making a move. It will improve your calculation and visualization skills.
